Since Arthur Voegtlin, William J.
Wilson and Manuel Klein, known as deavoring to bring Gertrude Kingston there has been much speculation along Broadway as to their activities.

A SHAW PLAYHOUSE.

Arnold Daly would make the Garrick a Shaw playhouse. He is endeavoring to bring Gertrude Kingston there to present three Shaw playlets now being played by her in Boston. Mr. Daly will open "You Never Can Tell" at the Garrick April 5. It should be of interest, therefore, for their acquaintances to know that Ben Stern's production of "The Sea Wolf," which opened at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, last night, has been occupying their attention. Mr. Voegtlin is directing the manipulation of the scenic effects; Mr. Wilson staged the play, and Mr. Klein has had charge tion, it is said, has given them an opportunity to demonstrate that they are still entitled to the adjective "big." The combination will be broken up to-morrow aight, however. Mr. Wilson will sail Thursday to stage a spectacular production at the London Hippodrome.

MISS MARBURY PRODUCES. It develops that Elisabeth Maroury owns a haif interest with F. Ray Comstock in the production of "Nobody Home" which is to be seen at the Princess. Not only that, but she is attending all renearsais, and she declares she's going to see that no old jokes creep in.

HOLMES IN "TRILBY." Joseph Brooks has made a change in his plans for Taylor Holmes. The comedia's will join the cast of "Tril-by" instead of appearing in "Mr. NATIVE SON MAKES Myd's Mystery." He may be seen in that farce next season. In "Trilby" he will play Gecko.

HITCHCOCK DIDN'T EAT.

HITCHCOCK DIDN'T EAT.

Raymond Hitchcock has a song in "The Heauty Shop" called "All Dressed Up and Nowhere to Go." The other evening in Utica he took several friends to the Hotel Utica for a to clock dinner. In order to lend class to the occasion he had donned a marvellous sartorial production—something like the one that caused crowds of urchins to follow him on Broadway last summer. When the party reached the hotel Mr. Hitchcock found every table in the dining-room taken. He waited as long as he could and then went to the theatre. As he left the hotel the orchestra played "All Dressed Up and Nowhere to Go."
